A new website for BIB Owners to discuss issues on. Please post.

Irene Brady <irene@natureworkspress.com> Thu, May 21, 5:36 PM To: BIBHOA Board <bibhoaboard@gmail.com>

Dear BIBHOA Board,

When you made a new website for the HOA, Dawna was asked if the new website would have a place for owners to chat as we were able to do on Associa's TownSq.

She responded that the board had decided to not allow discussion by property owners on the BIBHOA site, but that we were welcome to create another venue "with any other means that you see fit” for that purpose if we wanted. With that in mind, and with the understanding that emails to the board are posted for the sake of transparency, some of us have created just such a website, <http://friendsofbib.com/>, and request that you post this notice about it on the BIBHOA website to notify property owners that they can come there to discuss items of interest, share information and experiences, ask and answer questions, and learn more about the community. We invite members of the board to visit, also, and join the conversation.

The discussions will be monitored and moderated for courtesy, good manners, and respect for others, making it a safe and congenial place for all to discuss what interests them.

Thank you.
Renie Brady
